A New Way Forward A public platform and volunteer structural reform thinking group to transform politics and the economy for the public good, made up of regular people and has no funding from any group. We are dedicated to structural change in the economy. We believe that concentrated financial power is dangerous for democracy, and distributed power is possible and achievable. We want to see a social, economic, and governing infrastructure that leads to opportunity, wealth creation, creativity, and local industry for everyone, including the existence of a vibrant public discourse everywhere – we have helped to develop a loud call to break up the biggest banks' powers and to never let them get so big again they can take over our politics and economy. Abolish Human Rentals Revives inalienable rights arguments from the anti-slavery movement and applies them to the dominant employment relationship today, namely the voluntary self-rental in exchange for a salary or wage. Human rentals seek to alienate workers' decision making authority and responsibility for their actions, depriving employees of their rights to workplace democracy and financial responsibility (profit/loss) resulting from their actions. Web: <http://www.abolishhumanrentals.org/> [30 Oct 2010]

Abolition 2000 An international global network working for a treaty to eliminate nuclear weapons within a time-bound framework. It is open to all organizations endorsing the Abolition 2000 Statement. The Network aims at providing groups concerned with nuclear issues a forum for the exchange of information and the development of joint initiatives. The Abolition 2000 Network meets once a year and communicates on an ongoing basis via a number of list serves and through conferences, teleconferencing, and periodic mailings. Web: <http://www.abolition2000.org> [29 Mar 2010]

Abortion Clinics OnLine (ACOL) A directory service comprised of websites of hundreds of providers of abortion services and other reproductive healthcare. They may be private physician's offices, state licensed abortion clinics, private abortion clinics, or hospital abortion services. Abortion clinics and abortion doctors and services listed in 40+ states, as well as international countries. To the best of our knowledge, no anti-abortion "pregnancy consultation" centers are included here. Web: <http://www.gynpages.com> [26 Sep 2010]

About-Face Mission is to equip women and girls with tools to understand and resist the harmful stereotypes of women the media disseminates. There are three components to About-Face's program, Education into Action: media-literacy workshops, action groups, and a resource-filled web site. Our ultimate goal, the About-Face vision, is to imbue girls and women with the power to free themselves from body-related oppression, so they will be capable of fulfilling their potential. Web: <http://www.about-face.org> [11 Dec 2010]

ACCESS Exists to make reproductive health and choice a concrete reality -- not just a theoretical right -- for all women. We use a combination of direct services, community education and policy advocacy to promote real reproductive options and access to quality health care for low-income and uninsured women, young women, immigrant women and women in rural or isolated areas. No other organization in California provides the same range of support to women who are seeking or considering an abortion. Act for Love The online personals service that lets you take action while getting action. The idea is simple. Everyone wants to meet their perfect match. And in recent years, millions have turned to online personals services as a way to do that. So we figured, why not channel all that energy towards some good? Why not create a service that lets people make the world a better place while they're finding that perfect match? And, why not create a place where activists...can meet other activists? AK Press A worker-run collective that publishes and distributes radical books, visual and audio media, and other mind-altering material. We're small: a dozen people who work long hours for short money, because we believe in what we do. We're anarchists, which is reflected both in the books we provide and in the way we organize our business. The books and other media we distribute are published by independent presses, not the corporate giants. We make them widely available to help you make positive (or, hell, revolutionary) changes in the world. As you probably know, the stuff we carry is less and less available from the corporate publishers and their chain stores. Address: 674-A 23rd Street, Oakland CA 94612 Voice: (510) 208-1700 Fax: (510) 208-1701 Email: info@akpress.org Web: <http://www.akpress.org> [30 Sep 2010]

Akha Heritage Foundation We work to protect the human rights of the Akha people in Thailand, Laos, Myanmar, China and Vietnam. Our work includes protection for Akha language and culture, defending land rights, ending abuses by security forces, preventing the removal of Akha children, improving health care and providing clean water systems. We are joined by volunteers from around the world, and we also encourage people to share the work by starting their own projects to bolster the Akha cause. You can join us in person or on the net, or help in an Akha village. Web: <http://www.akha.org/> [28 Mar 2009]

Bay Area Community Exchange Blog A network of individuals who share our skills, knowledge, and abilities with one another. We contribute hours of service to our community so that all of our lives become richer. BACE members believe in the values of trust, respect, and cooperation as the foundation for a new economy based more on relationships and care rather than profit and greed. We believe that there is no need for the scarcity that is artificially created by the centralized monetary system we have been using to facilitate most of our exchanges. In reality, we are only limited by our time and creativity, which is in much more abundant supply than US dollars. Web: <http://timebank.sfbace.org/> [31 Oct 2009]

Beyond Pesticides Works with allies in protecting public health and the environment to lead the transition to a world free of toxic pesticides. The founders, who established Beyond Pesticides as a nonprofit membership organization in 1981, felt that without the existence of such an organized, national network, local, state and national pesticide policy would become, under chemical industry pressure, increasingly unresponsive to public health and environmental concerns. Formerly the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides. Web: <http://www.beyondpesticides.org> [04 Oct 2009]

Bicycle Church Collective (Community Self-Service Cycle Repair) You need not be a mechanic to use the Bike Church's do-it-yourself repair facility; people of all aptitudes make use of the shop. Church ministers (mechanics) are there to help and get as involved in the repair of your bicycle as necessary. We encourage people to learn by getting their hands dirty - familiarize themselves with the machine that they rely on to get them from place to place. The Bike Church is part of The Hub in downtown Santa Cruz. Open 3 pm to 7 pm every day except Sunday. Chelsea Green Publishing The publishing leader for books on the politics and practice of sustainable living. We are a founding member of the Green Press Initiative and have been printing books on recycled paper since 1985, when our first list of books appeared. We lead the industry both in terms of content—foundational books on renewable energy, green building, organic agriculture, eco-cuisine, and ethical business—and in terms of environmental practice, printing 95 percent of our books on recycled paper with a minimum 30 percent post-consumer waste and aiming for 100 percent whenever possible. This approach is a perfect example of what is called a "triple bottom line" practice, one that benefits people, planet, and profit, and the emerging new model for sustainable business in the 21st century. Christian Peacemaker Teams (CPT) Offers an organized, nonviolent alternative to war and other forms of lethal inter-group conflict. CPT provides organizational support to persons committed to faith-based nonviolent alternatives in situations where lethal conflict is an immediate reality or is supported by public policy. CPT seeks to enlist the response of the whole church in conscientious objection to war, and in the development of nonviolent institutions, skills and training for intervention in conflict situations. CPT projects connect intimately with the spiritual lives of constituent congregations. Gifts of prayer, money and time from these churches undergird CPT's peacemaking ministries.

Critical Resistance Seeks to build an international movement to end the Prison Industrial Complex by challenging the belief that caging and controlling people makes us safe. We believe that basic necessities such as food, shelter, and freedom are what really make our communities secure. As such, our work is part of global struggles against inequality and powerlessness. The success of the movement requires that it reflect communities most affected by the PIC. Because we seek to abolish the PIC, we cannot support any work that extends its life or scope. Address: 1904 Franklin Street, Suite 504, Oakland CA 94612

Defend California Public Education California has recently seen a massive movement erupt in defense of public education — but layoffs, fee hikes, cuts, and the re-segregation of public education are attacks taking place throughout the country. A nationwide resistance movement is needed. The politicians and administrators say there is no money for education and social services. They say that "there is no alternative" to the cuts. But if there's money for wars, bank bailouts, and prisons, why is there no money for public education? Web: <http://defendcapubliceducation.wordpress.com/> [26 Feb 2010]

Defend Science We have launched an ad hoc emergency initiative from – and reaching out to – scientists in various fields, science educators, science writers, etc. Coming from a diversity of perspectives, we are extremely concerned about the current attack on science, including on its very foundation in scientific method and thinking. Our goal is to mobilize scientists and issue this public call, "Defend Science," whose purpose is nothing less than to bring society wide attention to the real issues and the real stakes. Drinking Liberally An informal, inclusive progressive social group. Raise your spirits while you raise your glass, and share ideas while you share a pitcher. Drinking Liberally gives like-minded, left-leaning individuals a place to talk politics. You don't need to be a policy expert and this isn't a book club - just come and learn from peers, trade jokes, vent frustration and hang out in an environment where it's not taboo to talk politics.

Food Democracy Now! A grassroots community dedicated to building a sustainable food system that protects our natural environment, sustains farmers and nourishes families. Our food system is fundamentally broken. A few companies dominate the market, prioritizing profits over people and our planet. Government policies put the interests of corporate agribusiness over the livelihoods of farm families. Farm workers toil in unsafe conditions for minimal wages. School children lack access to healthy foods--as do millions of Americans living in poverty. Web: <http://fooddemocracynow.org/> [23 May 2010]

Food First / Institute for Food and Development Policy Empowers citizens to address the root causes of hunger, poverty, and environmental decline. Food First's research and educational materials reveal how anti-democratic institutions and belief systems promote hunger and environmental decline. Food First promotes the economic human right to food for all people and works to reshape the global food system by challenging industrial agriculture and promoting alternative food systems. Food, Inc. In Food, Inc., filmmaker Robert Kenner lifts the veil on our nation's food industry, exposing the highly mechanized underbelly that has been hidden from the American consumer with the consent of our government's regulatory agencies, USDA and FDA. Our nation's food supply is now controlled by a handful of corporations that often put profit ahead of consumer health, the livelihood of the American farmer, the safety of workers and our own environment. Web: <http://www.foodincmovie.com/> [05 Dec 2009]

FoodRoutes A national non-profit dedicated to reintroducing Americans to their food -- the seeds it grows from, the farmers who produce it, and the routes that carry it from the fields to our tables. Web: <http://foodroutes.org/> [03 Feb 2010]

Forage Oakland A project that works to address how we eat every day, and how everyone can benefit from viewing their neighborhood as a veritable edible map, considering what is cultivated in any given neighborhood and why, and what histories influence those choices. The gleaning of unharvested fruits; the meeting of new neighbors; the gathering and redistribution of fruits that would otherwise be wasted - can be powerful and can work to create a new paradigm around how we presently think about food in our collective consciousness. Web: <http://forageoakland.blogspot.com/> [02 Feb 2009]

Foreign Policy In Focus (FPIF) A "Think Tank Without Walls" connecting the research and action of more than 600 scholars, advocates, and activists seeking to make the United States a more responsible global partner. It is a project of the Institute for Policy Studies. FPIF provides timely analysis of U.S. foreign policy and international affairs and recommends policy alternatives. We believe U.S. security and world stability are best advanced through a commitment to peace, justice and environmental protection as well as economic, political, and social rights. We advocate that diplomatic solutions, global cooperation, and grassroots participation guide foreign policy. Web: <http://www.fpif.org> [22 Apr 2010]

Free Radio Santa Cruz (FRSC 101.1 FM) On the air for over twelve years without a license. We broadcast 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year, in defiance of federal regulations. The FCC is charged with regulating the airwaves in the public interest. We believe that it has failed to do so and has proved itself to be controlled by monied interests. We go on the air to protest corporate control of the airwaves, to bring local control and local accountability to our community media, to produce and broadcast a diversity of programs that are simply unavailable on corporate controlled stations. We do not air advertisements, we do not do pledge drives, we do not have sponsors or underwriters. The Freedom School (San Francisco) Through film, text, and eyewitness testimony, the Freedom School offers hope in a time of despair, and authenticity in an era of distortion and deception. We provide activists, educators, students and adults with an opportunity to analyze how social movements happen. This is done through studying the Civil Rights movement as a case study of how ordinary people, not just famous leaders, contributed to ending segregation in the South. This allows participants in the Freedom School to renew their commitment to, rekindle their passion for, and find greater clarity in how to promote social justice in the Bay Area today. Gay Shame GAY SHAME is a virus in the system. We are committed to a queer extravaganza that brings direct action to astounding levels of theatricality. We will not be satisfied with a commercialized gay identity that denies the intrinsic links between queer struggle and challenging power. We seek nothing less than a new queer activism that foregrounds race, class, gender and sexuality, to counter the self-serving "values" of gay consumerism and the increasingly hypocritical left. We are dedicated to fighting the rabid assimilationist monster with a devastating mobilization of queer brilliance. GAY SHAME is a celebration of resistance: ALL ARE WELCOME. Email: gayshamesf@yahoo.com

Global Exchange (GX) We envision a people centered globalization that values the rights of workers and the health of the planet; that prioritizes international collaboration as central to ensuring peace; and that aims to create a local, green economy designed to embrace the diversity of our communities. In a world where the economics of quantity fuels corporate power and political greed, the elite are reaping profits while working people and the planet are left to pay the price. In response to the global degradation caused by this system of elite globalization, Global Exchange envisions an alternative economics of quality centered upon protecting international human rights to ensure that the cost of globalization does not come at the expense of us all. Address: 2017 Mission Street, Second Floor, San Francisco CA 94110 Voice: (415) 255-7296 Fax: (415) 255-7498 Web: <http://www.globalexchange.org> [04 Feb 2011]

International NGO Campaign on Export Credit Agencies (ECA Watch) Citizens worldwide are increasingly aware of global institutions (like the WTO and the World Bank) and their impacts on the environment and human rights. But other secretive government bodies such as export credit agencies have as big, if not bigger, impacts on the process of globalization. Export Credit Agencies and Investment Insurance Agencies, commonly known as ECAs, are public agencies that provide government-backed loans, guarantees and insurance to corporations from their home country that seek to do business overseas in developing countries and emerging markets. Most industrialized nations have at least one ECA, which is usually an official or quasi-official branch of their government. Web: <http://www.eca-watch.org/> [06 Jan 2008]

Just Foreign Policy An independent and non-partisan membership organization dedicated to reforming U.S. foreign policy by mobilizing and organizing the broad majority of Americans who want a foreign policy based on diplomacy, law and cooperation. Although Just Foreign Policy will focus exclusively on foreign policy, we appeal directly to Americans for whom foreign policy is not a primary concern. We have seen through the Iraq war that unnecessary military actions can undermine civil liberties and democracy at home, and can be used to remove pressing domestic issues like the economy from the political agenda to the detriment of the great majority. Web: <http://www.justforeignpolicy.org/> [06 Nov 2010]

JustHealth (CCHCC) JustHealth exists because our current system denies people the healthcare goods and services for which we already pay. It is a system in which we do not know what we are entitled to, what we pay for, or how to get it. It is a system in which insurance is too often a broken promise. As a result, millions of Americans are sicker, suffer more, die sooner - and often go bankrupt in the process. As a result, the U.S. is poorer, weaker, and less secure. JustHealth is a 501(c)(3) non-profit public benefit corporation whose mission is to create a just healthcare system in the U.S. and that helps people obtain healthcare from our broken system. Justice Matters Justice Matters' mission is to bring about racially just schools by developing and promoting education policy rooted in community vision. Education policy will promote racial justice in schools only if it is shaped by a powerful vision for what such schools look like. Such a vision must be rooted in an understanding that low-income communities of color have wisdom, values and perspectives that contribute a great deal to racially just, high-quality schools. Local Clean Energy Alliance of the East Bay Working to build support for clean energy development in our region. Under California law, cities and counties can now act as buyer coops by purchasing their own energy in the open market, or by issuing tax-free bonds to invest in their own new energy facilities. With your support, we can assume greater control over our energy future and help area cities reach their goal of supplying 50% renewable power to their residents by 2017 — a much higher goal than PG&E's.

Magic, Inc. Magic is people learning and communicating how humans can further common good by practicing valuescience—scientific methods and principles applied to questions of value. We work in a radical, integrated, scientific way to increase human satisfaction and reduce human suffering. By "radical" we mean that we go to the roots of dissatisfaction and suffering. We perceive those roots to lie in misinformation about value—about what people want, how to get it, and most importantly, how we can know these things. The Metaphor Project Today it's vital for our future that we learn to frame our messages in ways more Americans can get. To succeed, we must present our ideas about peace, justice, and a healthy, sustainable environment as part of the best American dream-- a fair, just, and prosperous nation that does the right thing at home and abroad. That ideal still carries the finest American values, uniting left, center, and moderates on the other side--much needed common ground now. Moreover, we ourselves represent a basic American phenomenon--people led by the desire for a new and better society. To this end, The Metaphor Project (MP) has been building the capacity of cutting edge American progressive and liberal activists to "speak American" since 1997 with online resources, coaching, workshops, and talks. Metropolitan Community Church of San Francisco (MCCSF) Our vision is a transformed world, where all life matters and every person belongs. We are a beloved community joining together from diverse spiritual backgrounds. We are a witness of God's radically inclusive love. We celebrate the holiness of our bodies and our sexualities, the divinity manifested in all genders, and the full array of genders expressed by the Divine. We are called to a prophetic ministry of peace and social justice; therefore, we see as equally important the nurturance and growth of our congregation and communities, and our active involvement in the society around us. We minister primarily within the lesbian / gay / bisexual / transgendered communities. We recognize our connection to the historical Christian church. We are a house of prayer for all people and a home for queer spirituality. Moving On Center - School of Participatory Arts & Research Movement is a key to discovering physical wisdom often lost in a technological society. As co-founders of Moving on Center -- School of Participatory Arts & Research (MOC) we believe there is a gap to be filled in the western world in performance, education and health: GENERATING MOVEMENT in individuals for better health, and amongst groups of people to foster community building. Dance and other live arts can awaken responsibility to one's personal self and to the community one participates in. We envision helping to inspire a shift from a society of overworked, isolated people to groups of interactive, creative and responsive people.

Network of Bay Area Worker Cooperatives (NoBAWC) NoBAWC (pronounced "no boss") is a grassroots organization of democratic workplaces dedicated to building workplace democracy in the San Francisco Bay Area and beyond. As the name implies, NoBAWC is comprised primarily of worker cooperatives. A worker cooperative is an enterprise that produces goods, distributes goods and/or provides services and is owned and controlled by its worker-owners. Ownership of a worker cooperative is vested solely with the worker-owners on an equal basis. Moreover, worker-owners control the resources of the cooperative and the work process. Each worker-owner has equal decision-making power and ultimate authority rests with the worker-owners as a whole. Worker control can be exercised directly or indirectly by worker-owners. If exercised indirectly, members of representative decision-making bodies (e.g. a Board of Directors) must be elected by the worker-owners and be subject to removal by the worker-owners. Address: POBox 24953, Oakland CA 94623 Voice: (510) 835-0254 Email: info@nobawc.org Web: <http://www.nobawc.org> [21 Nov 2009]

Oil Change International Campaigns to expose the true costs of oil and facilitate the coming transition towards clean energy. We are dedicated to identifying and overcoming political barriers to that transition. We focus on the oil industry because we understand and view the oil industry as a source of global warming, human rights abuses, war, national security concerns, corporate globalization, poverty, and addiction. We also see their interests behind every major political barrier to a clean energy transition. Web: <http://www.priceofoil.org/> [28 Mar 2009]

Oil Depletion Analysis Centre (ODAC) An independent, UK-registered educational charity working to raise international public awareness and promote better understanding of the world's oil-depletion problem. Web: <http://www.odac-info.org/> [24 Jan 2009]

The Oil Drum Mission is to facilitate civil, evidence-based discussions about energy and its impact on our future. We near the point where new oil production cannot keep up with increased energy demand and the depletion of older oil fields, resulting in a decline of total world oil production. Because we are increasingly dependent upon petroleum, declining production has the potential to disrupt our lives through much higher prices and fuel shortages. The extent of the impact of this supply shortfall will depend on its timing, the magnitude of production decline rates, the feasibility of petroleum alternatives, and our ability to curtail energy consumption. Peace Brigades International (PBI) An international NGO that has been promoting nonviolence and protecting human rights since 1981. Our work is based on the principles of non-partisanship and non-interference in the internal affairs of the organisations we accompany. We believe that lasting transformation of conflicts cannot be imposed from outside, but must be based on the capacity and desires of local people. Therefore we do not take part in the work of the organisations we accompany. Rather our role is to open political space and provide moral support for local activists to carry out their work without fear of repression. Web: <http://www.peacebrigades.org> [13 Mar 2011]

Pembina Institute for Appropriate Development Albertans and Canadians are increasingly concerned when they look at the way Alberta's oil sands are being developed. Amidst growing urgency about the need to fight global warming, the oil sands have emerged as Canada's fastest-growing source of greenhouse gas pollution. Other impacts — from drawing down the Athabasca River to the creation of toxic tailings dumps, to hundreds of square kilometers of strip-mining and drilling in the boreal forest — are growing just as rapidly. Peninsula Copwatch An all-volunteer organization dedicated to monitoring Police activity in the Silicon Valley Cities of Los Altos, Palo Alto and Mountain View, California. Non-violently asserting our civil rights, and defending the rights of the community. Peninsula Copwatch is one of several Copwatch chapters that have been established across the United States and Canada, in various forms. Peninsula Copwatch is based on the idea that WATCHING the police is a crucial first step in the process of organizing. We do not attempt to interfere in legitimate police activity or to resist police misconduct physically. It is our hope that, some day, mass outrage at police and government violence will increase to a point where fundamental change in the nature of policing become inevitable.

People Organized to Demand Environmental and Economic Rights (PODER) A grassroots, environmental justice organization based in San Francisco's Mission District. PODER's mission is to organize with Mission residents to work on local solutions to issues facing low income communities and communities of color. PODER believes that the solutions to community problems depend on the active participation of all people in decision-making processes. Improvements to our neighborhood must be made through collective social action to bring about social, economic and environmental justice. Address: 474 Valencia Street, Suite 125 (near 16th Street), San Francisco CA 94103 Voice: (415) 431-4210 Fax: (415) 431-8525 Email: info\(at\)podersf.orgpodersf.org) Web: <http://www.podersf.org> [05 Dec 2009]

People Organized to Win Employment Rights (POWER) A multi-racial and multi-lingual organization made up of and led by no- and low-wage workers. Our members are largely women and people of color who have come together to win economic and global justice. We believe that the causes of poverty, racism and sexism are structural and institutional, and that in order end these oppressions once and for all, those people who are most directly affected must organize themselves to lead a broad movement for justice. Address: 32 Seventh Street (between Market and Mission), San Francisco CA 94103 Voice: (415) 864-8372 Fax: (415) 864-8373 Email: power@unite-to-fight.org Web: <http://www.fairwork.org/> [21 Oct 2007]

Progressive Democrats of America (PDA) Founded in 2004 to transform the Democratic Party and our country. Seeks to build a party and government controlled by citizens, not corporate elites -- with policies that serve the broad public interest, not just private interests. As a grassroots PAC operating inside the Democratic Party, and outside in movements for peace and justice, PDA played a key role in the stunning electoral victory of November 2006. Our inside/outside strategy is guided by the belief that a lasting majority will require a revitalized Democratic Party built on firm progressive principles. Progressive Democrats of the East Bay (PD - East Bay) Founded at the end of 2004 by organizers of the East Bay Kucinich for President campaign. At that time we chose to ally ourselves with the newly-formed Progressive Democrats of America and become part of a growing national grassroots community dedicated to the values of Howard Dean and Dennis Kucinich. PD East Bay has always been a small group that thinks big. Our steering committee, friends, and volunteers have put a lot of energy into various progressive events and causes, ranging from educational forums and videos to sabotaging Arnold's onerous propositions. We thank those that have responded in numbers (and in dollars) for our causes. Web: <http://www.pdeastbay.org/> [20 Feb 2010]

Rebecca Riots A female "radical folk" trio founded in 1993 by its members, Andrea Prichett, Lisa Zeiler, and Eve Decker. From 1993-2001 they released four CDs, were signed to Appleseed Recordings, and toured the United States several times. They are intensely dedicated to justice, but they are fun and easy going too. From 2002-2006 Rebecca Riots stopped touring, playing one or two shows a year in Berkeley. During that time Lisa had a baby and produced albums for other singer-songwriters, Andrea became a public school teacher and visited Palestine, and Eve did long meditation retreats and released a solo CD based on Buddhist teachings. Now they are back; touring the country and officially releasing their fifth CD, Just As Sure. Voice: (415) 377-8588 Email: rebecca@rebeccariots.com Web: <http://www.rebeccariots.com/> [27 Jan 2008]

Reclaim Democracy! Works to create a representative democracy with an actively participating public, where citizens don't merely choose from a menu of options determined by elites, but play an active role in guiding the country and its political agenda. We believe that one's influence should be a direct result of the quality of one's ideas and the energy one puts into promoting these ideas, independent of wealth or status. We inspire citizens to make conscious choices about what role corporations should play in our society and to limit them to that role. Web: <http://www.reclaimdemocracy.org> [29 Oct 2007]

Reclaim the Media A small nonprofit organization dedicated to pursuing a more just society by transforming our media system and expanding the communications rights of ordinary people through grassroots organizing, education, networking and advocacy. We envision an authentic, just democracy characterized by media systems that inform and empower citizens, reflect our diverse cultures, and secure communications rights for everyone. We advocate for a free and diverse press, community access to communications tools and technology, and media policy that serves the public interest. Three broad themes guide our projects: Web: <http://www.reclaimthemedial.org/> [05 Dec 2009]

Reclaim UC Our goal is to empower ourselves (students, workers, faculty, community) to take control of our educational institutions so they reflect our values and serve our needs. Our means are radical intervention and direct action. We believe direct action is an original and necessary component of our movement, and our intention is to duplicate, intensify, export and expand these tactics... because they work. Web: <http://www.reclaimuc.org/> [26 Feb 2010]

Reclaiming A community of people working to unify spirit and politics. Our vision is rooted in the religion and magic of the Goddess, the Immanent Life Force. We see our work as teaching and making magic: the art of empowering ourselves and each other. In our classes, workshops, and public rituals, we train our voices, bodies, energy, intuition, and minds. We use the skills we learn to deepen our strength, both as individuals and as community, to voice our concerns about the world in which we live, and bring to birth a vision of a new culture. Reverend Billy Reverend Billy and the Stop Shopping Gospel Choir believe that Consumerism is overwhelming our lives. The corporations want us to have experiences only through their products. Our neighborhoods, "commons" places like stoops and parks and streets and libraries, are disappearing into the corporatized world of big boxes and chain stores. But if we "back away from the product" - even a little bit, well then we Put The Odd Back In God! The supermodels fly away and we're left with our original sensuality. So we are singing and preaching for local economies and real - not mediated through products -- experience. We like independent shops where you know the person behind the counter or at least - you like them enough to share a story. Web: <http://www.revilly.com/> [29 Oct 2007]

Santa Cruz Free Skool A completely grassroots, collective effort to create an autonomous, mutual support network beyond institutional control. This is not just another alternative school, but a radically different approach to living and learning. Classes are informal, egalitarian, and are held in homes, social spaces, and parks. It is our opportunity to learn from each other and share what we know, to help create self-reliance, vital communities, and beauty in the world. More than an opportunity to learn, we see Free Skool as a direct challenge to dominant institutions and hierarchical relationships. Part of creating a new world is resistance to the old one, to the relentless commodification of everything, including learning and the way we relate to each other. Email: freeskoolsc@riseup.net

Shareable A nonprofit online magazine that tells the story of sharing. We cover the people, places, and projects bringing a shareable world to life. And we share how-tos so you can make a shareable world real in your life. In a shareable world, solutions like clothing swaps, childcare coops, potlucks, carsharing, community gardens, and cohousing can make your life more fun, green, and affordable. When we share, not only is a better life possible, but so is a better world. The remarkable successes of Zipcar, Wikipedia, Kiva, open source software, Freecycle, and Creative Commons show this. They tell a hopeful story about human nature and our future, one we don't hear enough in the mainstream media. Web: <http://www.shareable.net/>

Society for Agriculture and Food Ecology (SAFE) We are UC Berkeley students who

catalyze honest discussion of a truly sustainable food system. We bring this discussion onto our campus, and into our community via panels, speakers, events and workshops. Our intention is to be inclusive, productive and impassioned on behalf of our common goals of agricultural sustainability, ecological integrity, healthful human nutrition and vibrant rural economies. We feel strongly that this discourse is a critical element in the formation of policy goals, urban consumer literacy, and the shaping of food science. We also hope to embolden those interested in food/farming to make a career in these fertile fields.

South End Press A nonprofit, collectively run book publisher with more than 250 titles in print. Since our founding in 1977, we have tried to meet the needs of readers who are exploring, or are already committed to, the politics of radical social change. Our goal is to publish books that encourage critical thinking and constructive action on the key political, cultural, social, economic, and ecological issues shaping life in the United States and in the world. In this way, we hope to give expression to a wide diversity of democratic social movements and to provide an alternative to the products of corporate publishing.

SpaceShare SpaceShare is developing online tools to make ridesharing much easier. We began by creating simple carpool sites for events such as concerts & activist events. From there, we have developed tools for conferences: integrated systems for ride-shares, room-shares, car-rental shares, and home-stays. These can save attendees thousands of dollars at an event, and are being used for events beyond just the environmental movement. Spiral Gardens Community Food Security Project Mission is to create healthy sustainable communities by promoting a strong local food system and encouraging productive use of urban soil. Our core programs are based at our Urban Garden Center, located at the corner of Sacramento and Oregon Streets in Southwest Berkeley, on two blocks of public land at the end of a long-vacant former railroad right of way. These programs include our Nursery, Produce Stand, Community Farm, Outdoor Community Classroom, and Community Harvest Project. In addition to the community farm, we have one other community garden located on 59th Street in North Oakland. We also conduct outreach, education, and plant sales throughout the local community and at local and regional events, including a consistent presence at the Saturday Berkeley Farmers' Market from March through October. Stand Against Sit / Lie We stand with working people, immigrants, queer people, and poor people in opposing a proposal for a San Francisco law that would criminalize sitting or lying on public sidewalks. Homeless people in our community are members of our community, and a law in any form that would criminalize them is morally reprehensible and contrary to the spirit of sanctuary in San Francisco. Such a law, though designed to target homeless people, could — and we believe will — very easily be used against other valued members of our communities, such as day laborers and youth in low-income neighborhoods. The implications for free speech and shared public space are a threat for all members of our community.

StopAnimalID.org Agenda is to stop the National Animal Identification System (NAIS).

NAIS is a national program to identify and track livestock animals, including poultry, horses, cattle, goats and sheep for the purpose of disease containment. NAIS plans to use RFID and GPS technology to track animals, and requires every farm or "premises" be registered with government agencies, even if that premises houses a single animal. While NAIS's purported goal of disease containment appears to be beneficial, the requirement for American citizens to register privately-owned property for tracking and monitoring purposes has very serious implications for our privacy, rights and freedoms. Tibet Justice Center Established in 1989 as the International Committee of Lawyers for Tibet. Dr. Michael van Walt van Praag, Legal Advisor to the Office of His Holiness the Dalai Lama, brought together a group of committed human rights lawyers to work on international law issues affecting the Tibetan people. Helping the Tibetan people act as their own advocates is at the core of our work. As our knowledge, experience and team of professionals - lawyers and non-lawyers alike - has grown, we have taken on increasingly sophisticated work, from our own fact-finding missions to research on nonviolent solutions to civil conflicts between peoples and governments. All of our projects are geared towards helping the Tibetan people become prepared to take advantage of the opportunities for freedom that will come with time, change and hard work. Address: 440 Grand Avenue, Suite 425, Oakland CA 94610

The UNtraining A forum for exploring what it means to be white in a small, committed group of white people. We are motivated to investigate our white conditioning so we can better address racism wherever we find it - within ourselves, in our daily lives, our institutions, and our social justice work. Phase One introduces the basic tools and concepts of the UNtraining with experiential exercises, journaling, readings, and group discussion. Fundamental tools include: * Multi-dimensionality – how to hold the complexity of our experience in basic human goodness, beyond the dichotomy of “good white person” versus “bad racist person” * Tracking – how to find the white training within ourselves * Core Issue – how our personal stories allow the training to “hook” us Voice: (510) 235-3957 Email: info@untraining.org Web: <http://untraining.org/> [23 Sep 2009]

Voices in the Wilderness Campaigns to end economic and military warfare against the Iraqi people. We have done this mostly by organizing delegations to Iraq in deliberate violation of U.N. economic sanctions and U.S. law, to publicly deliver small amounts of medical supplies to children and families in need. Our primary focus has always been ordinary Iraqi civilians and the most vulnerable of Iraqi society, especially children. We have witnessed this ongoing warfare through the everyday lives of families we have come to know as friends over the course of seventy visits to Iraq. Web: <http://vitw.org/> [10 Nov 2007]

Vote Solar Initiative America's energy problems — from economic crisis to global climate change — will only be solved by a national transition to renewables. Clean, homegrown, reliable solar energy is ready to play a large part of the solution. It is the fastest growing energy source in the world, but we have still just scratched the surface of solar's vast energy potential. In order to bring the technology to scale, we need to bring down costs. Vote Solar works to build the economies of scale necessary to bring solar into the mainstream.

West Virginia Highlands Conservancy Formed in 1967 to preserve the natural beauty of the West Virginia Highlands, the Conservancy is the state's oldest environmental advocacy organization. One of WVHC's current challenges is the rescue of Blackwater Canyon, which was acquired by a private timber company which is doing extensive logging and appears to plan condominium development along the canyon's rim. WVHC is also working in vigorous opposition to coal mining by mountaintop removal. This environmentally destructive practice is now widespread in southern West Virginia. Western States Legal Foundation (WSLF) A non-profit, public interest organization founded in 1982, which monitors and analyzes U.S. nuclear weapons programs and policies and related high technology energy and weapons programs, with a focus on the national nuclear weapons laboratories. WSLF recognizes that nuclear weapons affect the environment, the economy, the role of violence in society, and democracy itself. Rather than enhancing our "national" security, nuclear weapons threaten our fundamental human security. WSLF seeks to abolish nuclear weapons, compel open public environmental review of nuclear technologies, and ensure appropriate management of nuclear waste. Grounded in nonviolence and rooted in both international and environmental law, the principle guiding WSLF's activities is democratization of decision making affecting nuclear weapons and related technologies. Whirl-Mart Ritual Resistance A participatory experiment. It is art and action. It came into being in 2001 as a response to Adbusters magazine's call for foolish action on the first of April. What began as a single happening in Troy, NY has over the course of a year evolved into a ritual activity that is performed across the U.S., and known around the world. It is a ritual during which a group gathers and silently pushes empty carts through the aisles of a superstore. Whirl-Mart utilizes tactics of occupation and reclamation of private consumer-dominated space for the purpose of creating a symbolic spectacle. Wild Wilderness When you venture in to the wilderness, do you seek nature and solitude or ticket lines and two-stroke engines? If recreation industry heavyweights have their way, your next walk in the woods will start at a toll booth and end in a gift shop with canned entertainment along the way. Why? Because cash-strapped federal land managers have turned to corporate America to fill gaping budget holes. So the public must now pay private concessionaires to take a walk on public lands. Tent campsites are being paved over to build more lucrative RV parks. And hundreds of thousands of acres of public lands are being auctioned off. As a user group that appreciates the value of wildness, Wild Wilderness opposes these efforts to commercialize our National Heritage by privatizing public lands. We are hunters, backcountry skiers, hikers, anglers, mountaineers and birdwatchers who want to enjoy nature, au naturel. Web: <http://www.wildwilderness.org> [21 Mar 2010]

Workers Emergency Recovery Campaign In recent months, we have witnessed billions of dollars pumped into the financial institutions with no strings attached. We cannot sit back and simply hope that things will get better. The financial executives have organized themselves and lobbied for bailouts. We must now do the same. We must organize ourselves and mount a campaign, insisting that government programs benefit the majority of the population first and foremost, not the super wealthy small minority. World Can't Wait Organizes people living in this country to repudiate and stop the fascist way the Bush Regime set out to remake the U.S., including the murderous, unjust and illegitimate occupations of Iraq & Afghanistan, the global "war of terror" of torture, rendition and spying, and the culture of bigotry, intolerance and greed. This direction cannot and will not be reversed by presidents who tell us to seek common ground with fascists, religious fanatics, and empire, but only by the people building a community of resistance, an independent, mass movement of people acting in the interests of humanity to stop, and demand prosecution of, these crimes.
